An Overview of the APhA Awards and Honors Program

“No one ever attains very eminent success by simply doing what is required of him; it is the amount and excellence of what is over and beyond the required that determines the greatness of ultimate distinction.” Charles Kendall Adams

The American Pharmacists Association’s Awards and Honors Program is American pharmacy’s most comprehensive recognition program. Individuals and organizations are recognized for their lifelong support and contributions to the art and science of pharmacy, the provision of pharmaceutical care, leadership and mentorship to the profession, and to ensuring appropriate use of medications within the healthcare system. APhA’s awards program recognizes practitioners, scientists and students for their contributions to advancing the profession of pharmacy.

Through its awards program, APhA believes it can stimulate research, practice innovations, quality publications and leadership that will advance the profession of pharmacy and its role within the healthcare system.

In this packet you will find information regarding APhA’s awards program, including an application to submit a nomination(s). You are encouraged to nominate individuals deserving of recognition from the American Pharmacists Association and to share this packet with others who may know of deserving individuals.

The awards and honors outlined in this packet will be presented by the American Pharmacists Association at the 2013 APhA Annual Meeting and Exposition in Los Angeles, CA, March 1-4, 2013. For further information, contact APhA Awards and Honors Program, 2215 Constitution Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20037-2985, (202) 429-7559 or e-mail Meredith Nelson: mnelson@aphanet.org. A brief description of each award, the nomination form, and instructions are also available online at www.pharmacist.com/awards.

Questions about awards administered by the APhA Academy of Student Pharmacists should be forwarded to Lynette Hamilton, Manager of Student & New Practitioner Development, at (800) 237-2742, ext. 7514, or e-mail: lhamilton@aphanet.org. You can also find information about the student related awards online at www.pharmacist.com/students.
Nomination Process
The information contained within this section applies to all currently available APhA awards. Additional requirements are indicated on individual award monographs. APhA publishes a call for nominations in Pharmacy Today, JAPhA, on APhA’s web site (www.pharmacist.com) and through other means. For all APhA awards, the nominator is responsible for submitting a complete award nomination packet by the designated deadline.

How Do I Nominate Someone for an APhA Award?

1. Identify the APhA award that best fits the accomplishments of the individual to be nominated. Review the individual award monographs contained within the Awards Application and Guidebook, including the description and criteria for each award.

2. Using the nomination requirements for the identified award as a reference (found on pages 7-9 of this Guidebook), assemble the nomination packet.
   a. Complete the nomination form found on pages 10-11.
   b. Write a letter of nomination for the nominee (if required). See pages 7-9 of this Guidebook for requirements.
   c. Gather letters of support for the nomination packet. Identify the number of required letters of support for the specific award (pages 7-9) and approach individuals to write and submit the letters to you for inclusion in the awards nomination packet.
   d. Obtain a CV or resume for the nominee for inclusion in the packet.

3. Submit the complete nomination packet. Nomination packets can be sent electronically or via mail. Packets sent via email should be sent to mnelson@aphanet.org and must be received by the deadline date. Nomination packets sent via mail should not be submitted in notebooks, binders, plastic covers, or folded, and should be copied single-sided. Nominations sent via the U.S. Postal Service or other carrier by first class mail should be postmarked by the deadline and sent to:

   APhA Awards and Honors Committee
   American Pharmacists Association
   2215 Constitution Ave, NW
   Washington, DC  20037-2985

Selection Process:
The selection of recipients is made based upon careful review of complete nominations. Upon receipt of a nomination, staff reviews it for completeness and conformity with guidelines. If acceptable, staff forwards the nomination to the appropriate group for review/recommendations. Nominators have until the stipulated deadline to submit the required nomination materials. Incomplete nominations packets will not be considered by the selection committee.
2012-2013 Award Committee Guidelines
1. Award Committee members shall actively encourage individuals to nominate candidates for APhA’s awards, but cannot nominate candidates themselves.

2. Award Committee members shall not be eligible for consideration as award nominees during their term of office on the Committee.

3. Academy Award Committee members are appointed from each section but represent the entire Academy when participating in Committee meetings.

4. Up to 10 Fellow designations are awarded each year by each Academy (APhA-APPM and APhA-APRS). The APhA Fellow designation is a Profession-wide recognition and should not be limited to a section allocation or section membership.

5. The intent of APhA’s awards program is to be the most comprehensive recognition program in the profession for pharmacists, scientists, and student pharmacists.

6. No individual can receive more than one APhA award in a calendar year, with the exception of the APhA Fellow and student pharmacist scholarship awards.

7. Unless stated to the contrary in the awards monograph, APhA membership is a requirement for the awarding of APhA Awards.

8. No award should be presented posthumously unless the recipient had already been selected prior to the awards presentation ceremony.

9. APhA’s leadership recognizes the work of APhA staff and its importance to the profession and Association, especially when they go above and beyond boundaries of their job description. In order to reduce negative perceptions of the Association’s awards program, current members of the APhA staff should not be considered eligible for APhA awards. (The Remington Honor Medal is considered the profession’s award). Former APhA staff members may be considered by Award Committees.

10. Campaigning or unsolicited contact with Award Committee members during their deliberation is prohibited.

Contributions to be recognized by this award will be in the areas of basic pharmaceutical, clinical, and economic, social, and administrative sciences (ESAS). The APhA Research Achievement Award was first established in 1961 as six separate awards, each recognizing outstanding, meritorious achievement in six disciplines of pharmaceutical sciences. Since 1995, these awards have been consolidated into a single annual award.

CRITERIA:
The nominee must have accomplished outstanding research and must have published reports in the scientific professional literature which can be used as criterion in judging an individual's contributions within a given category. This award is not restricted to members of the APhA Academy of Pharmaceutical Research and Science (APhA-APRS), but the recipient must be an APhA Member. Eligibility for the award will rotate among the disciplines represented by the APhA-APRS sections on an annual basis. In 2013, the award will recognize contributions in the area of basic sciences. Self-nominations are allowed and encouraged for this award. Remington Medalists are not eligible for the award.

Applications will be evaluated based upon the following criteria (listed alphabetically; not in rank order)
- Established “stream of research”
- International recognition
- Leadership and other recognitions
- New concepts/innovative research in pharmaceutical science
- Utilization/implementations of research by the profession, research community and other disciplines

NOMINATION PROCESS:
The responsibility for nominating recipients of the award is rotated among the three sections of APhA-APRS. In addition, any individual may nominate an eligible candidate. The nominator is responsible for submitting a complete award nomination packet. The deadline for nomination materials is September 1. The nomination packet is to include the following items:
- Nomination on official form available from APhA
- A letter from the nominator describing the most important achievements of the nominee and explaining why the nominee meets the criteria for the award
- Three supporting letters from scientists who are qualified to judge the pharmaceutical significance of the nominee's research record should be sent with the nominations. Letters are to address the nominee's worthiness to receive the award and include (a) the major research contributions of the nominee, and (b) at least two major examples of published research.
- Sample article reprints of the nominee's most outstanding work
- A current full CV

The Ebert Prize, established in 1873, is the oldest pharmacy award in existence in the United States. The award is for the best essay or written communication containing original investigation of a medicinal substance in the Journal of Pharmaceutical Sciences.

CRITERIA:

Awardees need not be members of the American Pharmacists Association for consideration. The paper selected for the award must have been published during the calendar year preceding the selection. In the case of papers authored by two or more persons, it must be determined which author conceived, directed, and coordinated the research. Should two or more authors have essentially equal contributions, it is necessary to determine which person initiated the idea, and which pursued it more vigorously.

NOMINATION/SELECTION PROCESS:

Since 1987, the award recipient(s) has/have been selected by the APhA-APRS Awards Committee. Steps in the selection process are: In mid-October, the editor of the Journal of Pharmaceutical Sciences selects five or six articles from the previous October through September issues of the journal and forwards them to the Editorial Advisory Board, which selects the best two or three articles. The articles so rated by the Editorial Advisory Board are then sent to the APhA-APRS Awards Committee for selection of the eventual recipient(s) of the best article.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The award consists of a silver medal and an engraved certificate for the primary author of the selected article, plus a certificate for each of the associate authors or “honored co-authors,” if any. The primary author will receive a complimentary registration to the APhA Annual Meeting; coach roundtrip airfare, based upon current APhA policies; and hotel, meal and miscellaneous expenses for two (2) days based upon current APhA travel policies.

APhA-ASP Chapter Achievement Awards

American Pharmacists Association

APhA-ASP Chapter Achievement Awards

DESCRIPTION:
The APhA Academy of Student Pharmacists (APhA-ASP) Chapter Achievement Awards (CAAs) were established in 1974 to recognize outstanding activities of APhA-ASP chapters at the schools and colleges of pharmacy in the United States and Puerto Rico.

CRITERIA:
Chapters are divided into three divisions based on the previous year’s student pharmacist enrollment obtained from AACP. Divisions AAA (fewer than 350 students), AA (351 to 550 students) and A (more than 550 students) are determined each fall based on the full-time enrollment of PharmD1 (Doctor of Pharmacy degrees awarded as the first professional degree) student pharmacists. The divisions are reassessed on an annual basis by the APhA-ASP National Executive Committee and APhA Staff, and are subject to change from year to year. A list of the chapters and divisions can be found on the APhA-ASP Web site.

Each chapter is eligible to win only one award, with the exception of the Chapter Innovative Programming Award and the Outstanding IPSF Activity Award in which any chapter may win. Therefore, if a chapter wins a Divisional Award or the Chapter of the Year Award, that chapter is not eligible to win a Specialty CAAs, except for the Chapter Innovative Programming Award or the Outstanding IPSF Activity Award. In addition, the Chapter of the Year Award, Most Improved Chapter Award, and the Specialty CAAs are given without regard to chapter size. All CAA Reports must be completed using the current reporting process and submitted by midnight (PST) on July 15th.

APhA-ASP National Patient Counseling Competition

American Pharmacists Association

APhA-ASP National Patient Counseling Competition

DESCRIPTION:
The award, established in 1984, recognizes a student pharmacist who through a series of competitions has excelled in demonstrating their ability to counsel a patient successfully on appropriate medication use.

CRITERIA:
The competition is open to all student pharmacist members. Participants are evaluated during counseling exercises at both the local and national level. Evaluations are based on the content and style of the counseling presentations.

NOMINATION/SELECTION PROCESS:
The competition begins on the local level as students compete to be the national representative from their school or college of pharmacy. Once the local winner from each school or college of pharmacy is decided, this individual will schedule an appointment to compete on the national level at the APhA Annual Meeting and Exposition. The national competition is divided into the preliminary round and final round. At the preliminary round, students select a simple practice scenario at random and are required to counsel a patient on the appropriate use of the drug involved. Students are given time to refer to the reference sources available in the model pharmacy. After consulting the references and determining the appropriate information for the patient, the participants counsel the patient. Evaluations are based on the content and style of the counseling presentations. The ten highest scoring participants are then invited to the final round.

The final round involves a more complex counseling situation where the participants again select a prescription at random and are asked to counsel the patient on safe and effective drug use. In addition, the patient in the final round will display personality characteristics such as anxiousness, belligerence or apathy to challenge the participants’ ability to convey pertinent information in a realistic situation. The selection of a recipient is made by a panel of judges.

NATURE OF AWARD:
The top ten finalists in the national competition will be recognized during the APhA-ASP Awards Ceremony and will receive a prize compliments of APhA-ASP. The four top winners of the national competition will also receive cash prizes. The APhA-ASP National Patient Counseling Competition for student pharmacists is sponsored by CVS Caremark.
